

An Emerging Artists Commissioning Program @SLAM Request for Proposals

DEADLINE: All proposals must be received by November 30, 2018

STREB is pleased to request proposals for its Emerging Artists Commissioning Program (GO!), funded by the Jerome Foundation.

GO! An Emerging Artists Commissioning Program, housed at STREB Extreme Action's Williamsburg home, SLAM, will accept proposals from emerging artists whose work is movement-based, including choreographers, aerialists and circus artists. Artists are eligible to receive a GO! commission for two consecutive years before being required to wait a year after which they may apply for one additional commission.

The goal of the program is to create a pool of artists who can capitalize on the resources distinct to SLAM so that, either literally or conceptually, the space's special and unusual characteristics and qualities inform and inspire new and exciting creative experiments.

GO! will offer selected artists opportunities to showcase work throughout its development process and to receive feedback.

Selected artists will receive a $2,000 grant plus a specific amount of rehearsal time at SLAM and resources tailored to the nature and scope of each particular project.

Eligibility and Selection Process

Applicants are asked to submit:

- A 3-minute video work-sample of recent work (no montages or demo reels).
- A one-paragraph project description of the proposed project
- An answer to the question: "Why SLAM?"
- A resume
- A short description of the work sample's relevance to the proposed project (Please include the creation date of the work shown in your work sample.)

Following the receipt of all application materials, the materials will be reviewed by a panel that will be chosen by Elizabeth Streb.

All applicants must reside in either New York City or Minnesota.

Notification will be sent in December. Project period will begin mid-January 2019. Selected artists will be given an opportunity to showcase works-in-progress and a final showcase will be presented at SLAM in June 2019.
